Cake and Food Sale.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a cake and food sale in the rooms of the Penn Public Service company on Saturday, October 11. Everybody welcome.

Loss of Musical Memory.

One of the most notable cases of sudden loss of musical memory related is that of Emile Prudent. One day in a concert while playing his own concerto with orchestra he lost all consciousness of "the connection between the notes, and from that time he had music only as confused sounds. Neither from his own playing nor from that of the orchestra could he gain a distinct idea and found that he had completely lost the ability to read the notes. From this attack, however, he soon recovered. The greatest symptoms disappeared the next day, but from that time he could play only from notes.

His Besetting Sin.

At a banquet in New York Mark Twain was the guest of honor. Thomas Bailey Aldrich was among those present who happened to be seated near Twain, and in some manner the talk had veered round to pet failings.

Ministers, R. M. Campbell, William Gibb, H. H. Stiles, D. D., R. L. Hallett, John Mitchell.

From this attack, however, he soon recovered. The greatest symptoms disappeared the next day, but from that time he could play only from notes.

His Besetting Sin.

At a banquet in New York Mark Twain was the guest of honor. Thomas Bailey Aldrich was among those present who happened to be seated near Twain, and in some manner the talk had veered round to pet failings.

"What is yours, Mr. Aldrich?" inquired a man near him.

The poet opened his lips to reply, but Twain beat him to it.

"Vice versa," he drawled laconically—Saturday Evening Post.

The Sneezing Prayer.

The custom of following a sneeze with a prayer goes so far back into the past it is next to impossible to say when it actually began. According to Strada the custom originated among the Assyrians, who, through an opinion of the danger that attended it, after the act of sneezing made a short prayer to the gods. The Romans after sneezing cried out, "Jupiter, help me!" The custom is mentioned by Homer, the early Jewish writers and others, and is found among many savage tribes.

No Reason to Work.

A large, slouchy colored man went shuffling down the road whistling like a lark. His clothes were ragged, and his shoes were out at the toes and heels, and he appeared to be in the depths of poverty for all his mirth.

As he passed a prosperous looking house a man stepped from the doorway and hailed him.

"Hey, Jim! I got a job for you. Do you want to make a quarter?"

"No," said the ragged one. "I done got a quarter."—Washington Star.

Cardamoms.

The flavoring spices known as cardamoms are not so well known in this country as they deserve to be. In Ceylon, Consul Baker noticed that nearly every tea planter devoted a patch to the cultivation of cardamoms as a side issue. In India the well to do classes make large use of them in favoring curries, cakes and confectionery.

Sailors in Calm Weather.

R. M. Hallett, writing a sea story in the American Magazine, makes the point that a calm doesn't mean much on a steamship where the mind is constantly satisfied and appeased by movement. On a sailing ship, however, it is different. On a sailing ship in a calm a skipper is in more danger of having trouble with his crew than in stout weather where all is action. The idea is that a calm forces a man to think, and the author adds, perhaps too cynically, "You force a man to think and he will think evil."

His Own Fault.

"Out of a job, are you, Flaxby?" "Yes, they got my scalp finally."

"How long had you held that of a scalp?"

"About thirty years. And it's pretty tough at my age to have to take up some new occupation to make a living."

"Haven't you got enough to live on?" "I should say not!"

(Looking at him with disgust.) "Flaxby, you make me tired! You're not fit to hold a public office."—Chicago Tribune.

The Ladies Aid society of the West Side M. E. church will hold an Oyster supper on Thursday, October 9, in the basement of the church. Everybody welcome.

PLAIN FACTS FOR VOTERS

Why Oscar Mitchell Should be Elected Judge

LIQUOR ISSUE PARAMOUNT

As Judge Mitchell Would Enforce the "No Bottle" Rule—Would Refuse to Grant Licenses to Wholesalers—A Chance for Temperance People to Triumph.

Announcement of the fact that the allied temperance forces of Clearfield county have endorsed the candidacy of Oscar Mitchell for judge has been made, and a statement of the reasons for the action is in order. Scarcely more than an epitome of these reasons can be given in this article. They are the basis of campaign material that will appear later.

Foremost among the reasons for the action is the fact that a considerable number of the conscientious voters of the county found themselves practically disfranchised by the results of the judicial primary. They cannot vote for either candidate nominated at that time without stillifying their convictions. That fact alone would justify the endorsement of a candidate acceptable to their views.

Not a Mere Protest.

But they did not enter the campaign simply as a protest—they see as good a chance for the election of their candidate as can be claimed by any other candidate. The grounds for this confidence are solid, as will be apparent before this campaign is a week old.

The first question to be asked by interested persons will be, in what respect is Mr. Mitchell's candidacy more acceptable to the temperance people of the county than the candidacy of the two other nominees? The answer to this question is easy and convincing. The reasons are legion, but we will deal with but five of the more appealing ones in this article and that but briefly.

Will Enforce Rule.

First—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will ENFORCE what has come to be known as the "no bottle" rule. The temperance people of the county may rest assured that there will be no dead-letter features connected with this highly beneficial phase of the administration. Mr. Mitchell pledges.

Second—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will make and enforce a rule forbidding treating in barrooms. The whole some effect of this promise is one of the most cheering things about his candidacy. But it is no new thing to a Pennsylvania judge so effectually prohibit treating in this way.

Will Refuse Wholesale.

Third—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will grant no wholesale licenses. These accursed agents of debauchery can no longer exist in our county. That some may continue to exist in adjoining counties is a flabby reason why they should be allowed to flourish in our own county.

Fourth—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will have no settled policy concerning the necessity of licensed houses in certain places—a policy that practically insures the relicense year after year of a large number of hotels in the county and that in effect establishes what may be described as a stockade around a great majority of the hotels through which the temperance forces cannot break a situation utterly incompatible with the advanced temperance sentiment of the county. The idea of the necessity of liquor anywhere is as abhorrent to Mr. Mitchell as to any one else, and his policy will be conformed to that notion not one inch further than the law compels. The people of the county will have opportunity far beyond that they have ever enjoyed to carry out their own policy, both as to single hotels and all the hotels in the county. That is a boon of incalculable value with an our reach.

An Unsmirched Candidate.

Fifth—Mr. Mitchell's candidacy is unsmirched by liquor influence. No licensed rum dealer will vote for him. No unlicensed man who hopes a change in the court may enable him to break into the monopoly of liquor vendors will vote for him. None of their sympathizers will vote for him. This consideration, if there were no others, would make the course to the temperance voter plain. We submit that the foregoing facts as a whole present an incontrovertible argument for the election of

Mr. Mitchell. We challenge the opposition to assent this proposition anywhere and everywhere they can. It would seem to be needless, almost an affront, to invite temperance men to this position. It is theirs already.

THE TABERNACLE

Glen Richey the Scene of Religious Activity at Present.

The people of Glen Richey and the surrounding district may look forward with pleasurable anticipation to the coming of Evangelists Hamilton and Leonard, who will conduct services in the tabernacle at that place. Mr. Hamilton was a pastor for twelve years. He has devoted his entire ministry to evangelistic effort during the past five years and has won 8,500 persons to a confession of faith in these years. The broad and well defined plans which have been submitted by him to the association convince the pastors that Mr. Hamilton is a capable head of the forces of the church.

Prof. F. F. Leonard is recommended as a man of good talent, possessing a rich tenor voice which makes the old hymns ring with new life in the hearts of the people. Mr. Leonard is also a preacher of ability and an energetic worker.

Rev. Mr. Hamilton and Prof. Leonard will conduct the evangelistic services in the tabernacle at Glen Richey soon to begin.

Amazing Disrespect.

The reigning bore in Edinburgh at one time was Professor L., and his favorite subject was the north pole. One day he met Jeffrey in a narrow lane and began instantly to talk of the north pole in despair and out of all patience darted past him, exclaiming, "Hang the north pole!" Shortly after Professor L., boiling over with indignation, met Sydney Smith. "Oh my dear fellow," said Sydney "never mind! No one minds what Jeffrey says, you know. He is a privileged person. He respects nothing—absolutely nothing. Why, you will scarcely credit it, but it is not more than a week since I heard him speak disrespectfully of the equator!"

Healthy City Feels.

Life in a great city does not necessarily lead to physical degeneration. There died a London fish hawkler about four years ago who could trace his family back 200 years and had never heard of any addition of country blood. He died within a few weeks of his golden wedding and left twenty-one children, seventy-one grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren. None of the children married out of the London district in which they lived, except a soldier son who emigrated. The old man pined his trade until within two days of his death and "could pull his barrow twenty miles. He had shrews like a young 'un and not a corn on his feet."

Misplaced Kindness.

"Isn't Bugsby the kind hearted chap who built the luxurious patent kennel for stray dogs?"

"Yes."

"How did it work?"

"After he was bitten seven times while trying to coax the dogs to enter the humane society locked him up for cruelty to animals."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ASBURY CHASE IS IN FAIR CONDITION

Operated on at the Hospital for an Abscess

Asbury W. Chase, Esq. who was operated upon at the Clearfield hospital late yesterday afternoon for an abscess was reported as getting along very comfortably this morning.

Mr. Chase's condition is serious, but there are excellent chances of his recovery. He had been ill but a few days prior to being taken to the hospital.

EXECUTION ISSUED

Executions have been issued against Mrs. Cuneo for the fines in two cases brought against her prior to the five which were heard last week, in two of which she was convicted and in three acquitted.

"BILLY" SUNDAY THE ATTRACTION

Noted Preacher Arouses Enthusiasm at Convention

10,000 MEN IN THE PARADE

Clearfield Delegates Take Prominent Part in Proceedings of Sunday School Gathering—Sunday May Come Here in Interests of Oscar Mitchell's Candidacy for Judge.

Following the dinner given the county presidents of the State Sunday School association at Williamsport Wednesday evening, at which the best of the land was set before the guests and a flow of eloquence, wit and humor enlivened the banqueters, addresses by Sunday, Kelly and Mrs. Armor and the big parade of the Bible Class men aroused the interest of the public. Mass meetings for men and women were held and prominent persons addressed the throngs.

One mass meeting was addressed by "Billy" Sunday, who had travelled from Steubenville, Ohio, to Williamsport in a special train to fill his engagement Sunday gave his hearers some very plain talk and was frequently applauded. M. Clyde Kelly, member of congress, and Mrs. Mary Armor, of Georgia, also spoke, both of them making an earnest appeal in behalf of the Sunday schools as the stepping stones to a religious life.

The Big Parade.

It is estimated that there were 10,000 men in the organized Bible class parade Thursday evening. Scores of bands discoursed appropriate music and beautiful floats added to the attraction of the demonstration. Clearfield county had fifteen men in line, who led the singing in the armory, where thousands heard the story of "Billy" Sunday's baseball life. Later in the evening when Sunday preached Pine street was packed with interested persons anxious to hear the famous orator.

Thomas H. Murray, Esq., was a prominent figure at the convention. A committee of Clearfield county people waited on Sunday and urged him to come to Clearfield and take part in the Mitchell campaign. Sunday would give no promise, but M. Clyde Kelly and Mrs. Armor will return to Clearfield this month in the interest of Mr. Mitchell's candidacy for judge.

Clearfield's Representatives.

Some of the Clearfield delegates are as follows: Rev. O. B. Poulsen, of New Millport, Rev. W. A. Carver, of Morrisdale, S. C. Waite and wife, of Corvessville; Rev. J. T. Williams, of Penfield; T. H. Murray, Esq., of Chase and H. A. Reed, of Clearfield. Mrs. Daniel Barnett, Mrs. John J. Dunlap, Mrs. John Merrill, Mrs. Susan Barnett, Olenka; Rev. Henry J. Johnson, DuBois, Rev. H. T. Strong, Osceola Mills; John M. Bain, Clearfield; O. J. Dressler, Rockton, G. W. Brooks, DuBois; Mr. Jennie Devinney and daughter, Miss Emma, of Kylretown, Ruth Rinehart, Morrisdale, Rev. J. F. Kelly, Rev. E. G. Sparr, Woodland.

Paul Gilmore.

Paul Gilmore will be seen at the New Opera House Thursday, Oct. 16, in "The Havoc." H. S. Sheldon's powerful dramatic triumph, "The Havoc," which ran all last season at the Bijou in New York, proving one of the big hits, represents a wide sweep to which the American audiences have been accustomed. It does not make heroes of the principals of lawless passion but shows the havoc wrought by illicit love. Mr. Gilmore's new role brings into play every quality of the actor-manager's matured art.

Monday being a legal holiday the banks will be closed Monday is "Columbus Day."

The Coming Maude.

Maude Muller one day, eating fudge. Looked up and saw the county judge.

Maude was a pretty girl, all right. His honor fell in love at sight.

And when about a month had fled Maude promised that the judge should wait.

Then over the judge's pathway came A wealthy, proud and stately dame.

The judge then for ambition's sake Poor little Maude resolved to shake.

An ardent suffragette was Maude, Chairwoman of the county board.

"I'll get square," Maude said, "without fail."

So told her party her sad tale. Judge had elected been in fall; In spring they voted his recall.

The haughty dame refused to wed. "You are no longer judge," she said.

This lesson she had learned, you bet: "Don't monkey with a suffragette!"

—Tom W. Jackson in Judge.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

Wesleyan students took out census of Middletown, Conn., as initiation penalty.

The Rev. Franklin Babbitt, fifty-one years Episcopal rector at Nyack, has preached 4,000 sermons there.

Mahalia Stehle, building association official of Altoona, Pa., was convicted of embezzling $15,000 belonging to his son.

The crusade to wipe out the slums of Washington resulted in 24 insanitary buildings being razed in the last year.

To prevent the spread of glanders among horses all watering troughs and fountains in Boston will be shut down on Nov. 1.

Since Chicago's contract to remove garbage expired Oct. 1 no refuse has been collected, and the public health is menaced.

A first child welfare department in the country was established at the University of Kansas with Professor W. A. McKeever as head.

Olaf Pons, gunner, was seriously hurt by the premature explosion of a cartridge on the revenue cutter Tuscarora near Milwaukee, Wis.

A flock of bats voiplaning through the chamber of the house in Washington amused the congressmen while Minority Leader Mann was forcing a roll call.

President Wilson has endorsed Assistant Secretary Roosevelt's suggestion that war service badges be authorized as part of uniforms of men who took part in the Nicaragua campaign.

Would Woman Be Less Quarrelsome? If men indulged in the unparliamentary tactics employed by women in the social and organization game they would not only lose all chance at the coveted office, but they would probably be well beaten up for their actions. The woman is cruel, disrespectful and unfair to her sisters because she knows another woman will not strike her. It would be so unbecomingly. Have you ever listened while the women and girls of a household repeated the tale of their experiences at the Ladies Aid society, the White Club, the Altar guild, the Lunch club? Do you hear how many apocryphs were made for the next sale, what scenes were displayed in playing a certain hand at bridge, how the guild has decided to redecorate the church or the latest discoveries in domestic science made by the young cooks? says the Pictorial Review.

Not at all. The burning question in almost every case is the inefficiency of some officers or the unwarranted power wielded by others. Consider how many good movements have been launched in your town, only to die an untimely death because the organizers fell to quarreling among themselves.

WILSON REVIEWS U. S. CAVALRYMEN

New Evolutions and Tactics Shown by Brigade.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Trotting down from the Virginia hills, overlooking Washington, 2,000 khaki clad cavalrymen entered Washington to pass in review before President Wilson and the military attaches of the foreign embassies and legations. The review was planned to illustrate the great advance made in cavalry tactics. The men, fresh from their camp in Fort Myer, constituted the strongest regular mounted force of the army that has passed before a president since the close of the civil war. Early great crowds thronged the river front, seeking points from which to view the maneuvers.

The center of the maneuvers, which were arranged to follow the march in review, was a stand in Potomac park, especially constructed for the president. Invited to share it with him were Secretary Garrison and other members of the cabinet, Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, the heads of the various bureaus of the war department and the members of the senate and house military affairs committees. The foreign military attaches, mounted and wearing the brilliant uniforms of their rank, lent color to the picture.

THE JUDGESHIP.

The office of judge is the highest elective position which the voters of a county can confer upon a man. An occupant of the bench is presumed to be and should be a man of the strictest integrity, the staunchest honesty and highest intelligence. The judge of a county as large and as important as Clearfield should possess a clear mind, a conscience which cannot be swayed by personal or political considerations, and a heart which will withstand the pleadings for favoritism from friend or foe.

The judge on the bench has the life, liberty and property in his keeping at times. An unjust judge may deprive a man of his liberty or his property. An ignorant or partial judge may even influence a jury to render a verdict against the evidence in a case where a man's life is in peril. A judge on the bench, after all, is but a man, one of the human family, and is liable to err, to be guided by other men with ulterior motives or vicious and harmful purposes in view. To place upon the bench a man who is swayed by passion, politics or personal considerations is as dangerous as to place dynamite in the hands of children.

The people of Clearfield county should have as the occupant of the judicial office a man who is known as upright, conscientious, impartial and free from partisan bias. Such a man is found in Oscar Mitchell, whose candidacy has been hailed by all classes of voters as affording them an opportunity to make the judiciary out of politics in fact, not in theory. Mr. Mitchell as a judge would administer the business of the courts of Clearfield county in a wise, fair-minded and unprejudiced manner. He would be the judge of the whole people, not of a clique or combination which seeks to make a travesty of the laws and to convert the courts into a weapon with which they may punish their enemies and reward their foes.

Oscar Mitchell stands forward as the exponent of honesty, integrity, ability and popular rule. Of the sincerity of his declarations upon the liquor license issue there cannot be the least doubt. He is the logical candidate of the people who have for years believed that there should be a stricter enforcement of the license laws and who deplore the fact that it is too easy a matter for men of doubtful mental and moral qualifications to receive permission to sell liquor in the county of Clearfield. With Oscar Mitchell on the bench the good people of this county would have full assurance that the laws of all kinds would be interpreted and enforced without fear or favor.

BIRDS' FEATHERS BARRED.

There is nothing so bad that in it some good may not be found. The Democratic tariff act is denounced as a near free trade measure and is not going to reduce the high cost of living as the Democrats promised, but still it contains at least one feature which will gain the commendation of the people of this country. That is the provision which prohibits the importation of aligrettes and other bird plume. Women coming from abroad with aligrettes on their hats must remove the ornaments before they will be permitted to land.

The wearing of aligrettes upon the hats of women has long been decried by the friends of the birds which are killed for their feathers alone. It has been found impossible to induce the women to abandon the aligrettes, hence it was necessary for congress to prohibit the use of these feathers by women who arrive in this country from abroad. This law will do injury to no one and may be the means of putting a stop to the slaughter of the birds from which aligrettes are taken.

In one of the school rooms in Clearfield recently a teacher talked to her pupils on the evil of destroying song birds for their plumage. She dilated upon the topic and her little pupils were very much affected. Finally, however, one of the precocious children asked the teacher why, if she was so strongly opposed to the killing of the pretty, innocent birds, she wore a bird's wing on her own hat. The reply was that the ornament had been given to her. What impression will a lecture against cruelty to birds have on children's mind, when the lecturer herself wears plumage from some bird which might be alive today but for the demands of fashion that feathers shall adorn women's hats and bonnets?

The diameter of the earth is said to be eight thousand miles, but to the man who is digging for fish worms it seems that distance down to where the worms hibernates.

Champions of judicial candidates should fight fair. Voters are not so ignorant that they will swallow all kinds of fake stories.

The slit skirt and its attendant exhibition will soon disappear from the stage.

There are those who aver that President Wilson will go the same way that his predecessor went after signing the tariff bill.

Some men's wives are interested in the world's series of baseball according to which team their husbands bet on.

In an editorial in Progress the words "because he is now a bitter partisan" appeared in reference to Oscar Mitchell. The word "now" should have been "not," the blunder being due to the "intelligent" compositor, of course.

EPISCOPALIANS DEBATE ISSUES

Both Houses In Session at the Convention.

BIG SERVICE FOR WOMEN.

Bishops and Deputies Meet in Synod Halls—Dr. Alexander Mann of Boston Is Elected Presiding Officer—Women Have Fund of $275,000 to Be Put to Practical Use.

New York, Oct. 10.—Both houses of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church met in business session in the synod halls, in the grounds of the cathedral of St. John the Divine, on Morningside Heights, for the second day's meetings. When the delegates were deliberating more than 3,000 women attended the special service held for the women of the diocese of the church in the cathedral.

The great mass of the cathedral was as crowded as it had been at the opening service of the convention. Bishop David H. Greer of New York celebrated the communion service. The unit offering of the church's auxiliaries, which is handed up at the conventions was put upon the table at this service.

Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston, was elected as presiding officer of the house of deputies. The name of Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, was put in nomination also. The vote was recorded as 258 to 212. On motion of Dr. Manning the choice was made unanimous.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Austin was re-elected secretary of the house of deputies, and the Rev. Carroll M. Davis of St. Louis, William C. Pratt of New York and the Rev. James G. Glass were appointed assistant secretaries.

The Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim of Washington presented to the convention a memorial adopted last May by the diocesan convention of Washington. In it was set forth the belief that the present method of representation by four lay and four clerical delegates from each diocese, regardless of the number of communicants, was unjust and inequitable.

Bishop Boyd Vincent of southern Ohio was chosen chairman of the house of bishops, and Dr. Samuel Hart of Connecticut was re-elected secretary.

The women's auxiliary held a meeting in the parish house of St. Michael's church, One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Amsterdam avenue. It was attended by 427 delegates from the United States. The question of the use of the fund of $275,000 raised by the women was discussed.

All Old. Discovery of a prehistoric Turkish bath in Ireland suggests again the thought that most of the things about which modern civilization boasts are ancient. An automatic machine was in use to supply sacrificial water in an ancient Greek temple. Queen Maria Theresa had an elevator in her house at Luxembourg at least as early as 1777, and an omnibus was running in Paris in 1802. In 1667 Robert Hooke conveyed sounds to a distance by the tatted wire—telephone, in fact.

New York, Oct. 10.—The Athletics, after their defeat at the hands of Mathewson, won the third game of the world's series by superior playing in the field, by hard hitting and by the excellent work of Bush, Mack's young pitcher, who allowed the Giants but five hits in the nine innings of play. His work was glib edged throughout, and it was not until the Athletics had a good lead did the Giants score their first run.

Tesreau, who started to work for the Giants, was batted from the box in the seventh inning, Crandall taking his place. Schang, the Athletic catcher, featured with a home run in the right field grand stand, duplicating Baker's feat of the first game.

Early Preparations.

The national commission announced at 10:30 o'clock that the third game of the championship series between the Giants and Athletics would be played if there were no further rain.

The announcement was made upon a report to the commission by Umpire Rigler, who examined the field. Rigler reported that the ground were soggy, but fit for playing if there were no more rain.

Immediately after the announcement the gates swung open and the long line, waiting outside, began to file into the park.

"I can't hold out too bright a hope," was the weather man's dictum. "Conditions are going to be just what they have been for the past three days—cloudy, foggy, unsettled, with light rain. It may be safely said, however, that the rain will not be heavy. It will be showery and the game may slip in between the showers. One thing is certain—it won't clear up."

Uncertainty as to whether the game would be played kept down the number of fans in line during the early morning. There were about half a dozen women in line, hidden under umbrellas, for a fine rain was falling. The line, four abreast, was less than three blocks long.

By 10:30 the crowd numbered more than 4,000, and each train was bringing considerable additions to the line, which stretched five blocks. The drizzle had ceased. The clouds were breaking away, and the sun was trying to force its way through the misty vapor.

About 9:30 David Jones, twenty-nine years old, of 407 Spruce street, Scranton, Pa., who had been in line for several hours, fainted, and when he was brought to Inspector Titus gave him a seat on a box at the head of the line, so that he could pass the gate without getting in the rush. Jones, who said he was a clerk for a steel company, saw the first and second games. He had left a sick bed so as not to miss the series, he said.

Two men on crutches, who arrived late, were given places well up in front of the line by kind hearted fans.

The Giants were big favorites among the crowd for the game. Odds of 5 to 3 were freely offered, but rosters from Philadelphia were asking 2 to 1.

A shout went up at 10:45 when the gates were thrown open, and there was a repetition of Tuesday's wild rush to reach the ticket windows. Three hundred were let in in the first batch, and then the police held the line in check for half a minute before allowing it to proceed slowly into the inclosure.

Mitchel's Resignation.

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Wilson received the resignation of John Purroy Mitchel, collector of the port of New York. He took under advisement the question of Mr. Mitchel's successor.

BISHOP LAWRENCE.

Clergyman Who Urged
Closer Attention to Life's
Problems by All Ministers.

Bishop Lawrence in a sermon at the services in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine which opened the great Episcopal convention in New York city made an eloquent appeal for closer attention to the problems of today. He thought that the Episcopal clergyman should use every means of getting near to the people, so as to learn their needs and serve them. The Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity church, Boston, was elected president of the house of deputies. The only other candidate was the Rev. Dr. William F. Manning of Trinity church, New York. Dr. Manning is a low churchman.

Surrendered in Messina.

Messina, Sicily, Oct. 10.—Francisco Imbelsi, who attacked and robbed Patrick Campbell at Portage, Pa., in 1904, surrendered himself to the authorities here. He was condemned to thirty years' imprisonment for the crime and for his complicity in the murder of Charles Hays on the same occasion.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a cake and food sale in the rooms of the Penn Public Service company on Saturday, October 11. Everybody welcome.

Loss of Musical Memory.

One of the most notable cases of sudden loss of musical memory related is that of Emile Prudent. One day in a concert while playing his own concerto with orchestra he lost all consciousness of "the connection between the notes, and from that time he had music only as confused sounds. Neither from his own playing nor from that of the orchestra could he gain a distinct idea and found that he had completely lost the ability to read the notes. From this attack, however, he soon recovered. The greatest symptoms disappeared the next day, but from that time he could play only from notes.

His Besetting Sin.

At a banquet in New York Mark Twain was the guest of honor. Thomas Bailey Aldrich was among those present who happened to be seated near Twain, and in some manner the talk had veered round to pet failings.

"What is yours, Mr. Aldrich?" inquired a man near him.

The poet opened his lips to reply, but Twain beat him to it.

"Vice versa," he drawled laconically—Saturday Evening Post.

The Sneezing Prayer.

The custom of following a sneeze with a prayer goes so far back into the past it is next to impossible to say when it actually began. According to Strada the custom originated among the Assyrians, who, through an opinion of the danger that attended it, after the act of sneezing made a short prayer to the gods. The Romans after sneezing cried out, "Jupiter, help me!" The custom is mentioned by Homer, the early Jewish writers and others, and is found among many savage tribes.

No Reason to Work.

A large, slouchy colored man went shuffling down the road whistling like a lark. His clothes were ragged, and his shoes were out at the toes and heels, and he appeared to be in the depths of poverty for all his mirth. As he passed a prosperous looking house a man stepped from the doorway and hailed him.

"Hey, Jim! I got a job for you. Do you want to make a quarter?"

"No," said the ragged one. "I done got a quarter."—Washington Star.

Cardamoms.

The flavoring spices known as cardamoms are not so well known in this country as they deserve to be. In Ceylon, Consul Baker noticed that nearly every tea planter devoted a patch to the cultivation of cardamoms as a side issue. In India the well to do classes make large use of them in favoring curries, cakes and confectionery.

Sailors in Calm Weather.

R. M. Hallett, writing a sea story in the American Magazine, makes the point that a calm doesn't mean much on a steamship where the mind is constantly satisfied and appeased by movement. On a sailing ship, however, it is different. On a sailing ship in a calm a skipper is in more danger of having trouble with his crew than in stout weather where all is action. The idea is that a calm forces a man to think, and the author adds, perhaps too cynically, "You force a man to think and he will think evil."

His Own Fault.

"Out of a job, are you, Flaxby?"

"Yes, they got my scalp finally."

"How long had you held that of late?"

"About thirty years. And it's pretty tough at my age to have to take up some new occupation to make a living."

"Haven't you got enough to live on?"

"I should say not!"

(Looking at him with disgust.)

"Flaxby, you make me tired! You're not fit to hold a public office!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Ladies Aid society of the West Side M. E. church will hold an Oyster supper on Thursday, October 9, in the basement of the church. Everybody welcome.

PLAIN FACTS FOR VOTERS

Why Oscar Mitchell Should be Elected Judge

LIQUOR ISSUE PARAMOUNT

As Judge Mitchell Would Enforce the "No Bottle" Rule—Would Refuse to Grant Licenses to Wholesalers—A Chance for Temperance People to Triumph.

Announcement of the fact that the allied temperance forces of Clearfield county have endorsed the candidacy of Oscar Mitchell for judge has been made, and a statement of the reasons for the action is in order. Scarcely more than an epitome of these reasons can be given in this article. They are the basis of campaign material that will appear later.

Foremost among the reasons for the action is the fact that a considerable number of the conscientious voters of the county found themselves practically disfranchised by the results of the judicial primary. They cannot vote for either candidate nominated at that time without stillifying their convictions. That fact alone would justify the endorsement of a candidate acceptable to their views.

Not a Mere Protest

But they did not enter the campaign simply as a protest—they see as good a chance for the election of their candidate as can be claimed by any other candidate. The grounds for this confidence are solid, as will be apparent before this campaign is a week old.

The first question to be asked by interested persons will be, in what respect is Mr. Mitchell's candidacy more acceptable to the temperance people of the county than the candidacy of the two other nominees? The answer to this question is easy and convincing. The reasons are legion, but we will deal with but five of the more appealing ones in this article and that but briefly.

Will Enforce Rule.

First—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will ENFORCE what has come to be known as the "no bottle" rule. The temperance people of the county may rest assured that there will be no dead-letter features connected with this highly beneficial phase of the administration. Mr. Mitchell pledges.

Second—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will make and enforce a rule forbidding treating in barrooms. The whole some effect of this promise is one of the most cheering things about his candidacy. But it is no new thing to a Pennsylvania judge so effectually prohibit treating in this way.

Will Refuse Wholesalers.

Third—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will grant no wholesale licenses. These accursed agents of debauchery can no longer exist in our county. That some may continue to exist in adjoining counties is a flabby reason why they should be allowed to flourish in our own county.

Fourth—Mr. Mitchell, if elected, will have no settled policy concerning the necessity of licensed houses in certain places—a policy that practically insures the relicense year after year of a large number of hotels in the county and that in effect establishes what may be described as a stockade around a great majority of the hotels through which the temperance forces cannot break a situation utterly incompatible with the advanced temperance sentiment of the county. The idea of the necessity of liquor anywhere is as abhorrent to Mr. Mitchell as to any one else, and his policy will be conformed to that notion not one inch further than the law compels. The people of the county will have opportunity far beyond that they have ever enjoyed to carry out their own policy, both as to single hotels and all the hotels in the county. That is a boon of incalculable value with an our reach.

An Unsmirched Candidate

Fifth—Mr. Mitchell's candidacy is unsmirched by liquor influence. No licensed rum dealer will vote for him. No unlicensed man who hopes a change in the court may enable him to break into the monopoly of liquor vendors will vote for him. None of their sympathizers will vote for him. This consideration, if there were no others, would make the course to the temperance voter plain. We submit that the foregoing facts as a whole present an incontrovertible argument for the election of

Mr. Mitchell. We challenge the opposition to assent this proposition anywhere and everywhere they can. It would seem to be needless, almost an affront, to invite temperance men to this position. It is theirs already.

THE TABERNACLE

Glen Richey the Scene of Religious Activity at Present.

The people of Glen Richey and the surrounding district may look forward with pleasurable anticipation to the coming of Evangelists Hamilton and Leonard, who will conduct services in the tabernacle at that place. Mr. Hamilton was a pastor for twelve years. He has devoted his entire ministry to evangelistic effort during the past five years and has won 8,500 persons to a confession of faith in these years. The broad and well defined plans which have been submitted by him to the association convince the pastors that Mr. Hamilton is a capable head of the forces of the church.

Prof. F. F. Leonard is recommended as a man of good talent, possessing a rich tenor voice which makes the old hymns ring with new life in the hearts of the people. Mr. Leonard is also a preacher of ability and an energetic worker.

Rev. Mr. Hamilton and Prof. Leonard will conduct the evangelistic services in the tabernacle at Glen Richey soon to begin.

Amazing Disrespect.

The reigning bore in Edinburgh at one time was Professor L., and his favorite subject was the north pole. One day he met Jeffrey in a narrow lane and began instantly to talk of the north pole in despair and out of all patience darted past him, exclaiming, "Hang the north pole!" Shortly after Professor L., boiling over with indignation, met Sydney Smith. "Oh my dear fellow," said Sydney "never mind! No one minds what Jeffrey says, you know. He is a privileged person. He respects nothing—absolutely nothing. Why, you will scarcely credit it, but it is not more than a week since I heard him speak disrespectfully of the equator!"

Healthy City Feels.

Life in a great city does not necessarily lead to physical degeneration. There died a London fish hawkler about four years ago who could trace his family back 200 years and had never heard of any addition of country blood. He died within a few weeks of his golden wedding and left twenty-one children, seventy-one grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren. None of the children married out of the London district in which they lived, except a soldier son who emigrated. The old man pined his trade until within two days of his death and "could pull his barrow twenty miles. He had stinks like a young 'un and not a corn on his feet."

Misplaced Kindness.

"Isn't Bugsby the kind hearted chap who built the luxurious patent kennel for stray dogs?"

"Yes."

"How did it work?"

"After he was bitten seven times while trying to coax the dogs to enter the humane society locked him up for cruelty to animals."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ASBURY CHASE IS IN FAIR CONDITION

Asbury W. Chase, Esq. who was operated upon at the Clearfield hospital late yesterday afternoon for an abscess was reported as getting along very comfortably this morning.

"BILLY" SUNDAY THE ATTRACTION

Noted Preacher Arouses Enthusiasm at Convention

10,000 MEN IN THE PARADE

Clearfield Delegates Take Prominent Part in Proceedings of Sunday School Gathering—Sunday May Come Here in Interests of Oscar Mitchell's Candidacy for Judge.

Following the dinner given the county presidents of the State Sunday School association at Williamsport Wednesday evening, at which the best of the land was set before the guests and a flow of eloquence, wit and humor enlivened the banquets, addresses by Sunday, Kelly and Mrs. Armor and the big parade of the Bible Class men aroused the interest of the public. Mass meetings for men and women were held and prominent persons addressed the throngs.

One mass meeting was addressed by "Billy" Sunday, who had travelled from Steubenville, Ohio, to Williamsport in a special train to fill his engagement Sunday gave his hearers some very plain talk and was frequently applauded. M. Clyde Kelly, member of congress, and Mrs. Mary Armor, of Georgia, also spoke, both of them making an earnest appeal in behalf of the Sunday schools as the stepping stones to a religious life.

The Big Parade.

It is estimated that there were 10,000 men in the organized Bible class parade Thursday evening. Scores of bands discoursed appropriate music and beautiful floats added to the attraction of the demonstration. Clearfield county had fifteen men in line, who led the singing in the armory, where thousands heard the story of "Billy" Sunday's baseball life. Later in the evening when Sunday preached Pine street was packed with interested persons anxious to hear the famous orator.

Thomas H. Murray, Esq., was a prominent figure at the convention. A committee of Clearfield county people waited on Sunday and urged him to come to Clearfield and take part in the Mitchell campaign. Sunday would give no promise, but M. Clyde Kelly and Mrs. Armor will return to Clearfield this month in the interest of Mr. Mitchell's candidacy for judge.

Clearfield's Representatives.

Some of the Clearfield delegates are as follows: Rev. O. B. Poulsen, of New Millport, Rev. W. A. Carver, of Morrisdale, S. C. Waite and wife, of Corvessville; Rev. J. T. Williams, of Penfield; T. H. Murray, Esq., of Chase and H. A. Reed, of Clearfield. Mrs. Daniel Barnett, Mrs. John J. Dunlap, Mrs. John Merrill, Mrs. Susan Barnett, Olenka; Rev. Henry J. Johnson, DuBois, Rev. H. T. Strong, Osceola Mills; John M. Bain, Clearfield; O. J. Dressler, Rockton, G. W. Brooks, DuBois; Mr. Jennie Devinney and daughter, Miss Emma, of Kylretown, Ruth Rinehart, Morrisdale, Rev. J. F. Kelly, Rev. E. G. Sparr, Woodland.

Paul Gilmore.

Paul Gilmore will be seen at the New Opera House Thursday, Oct. 16, in "The Havoc." H. S. Sheldon's powerful dramatic triumph, "The Havoc," which ran all last season at the Bijou in New York, proving one of the big hits, represents a wide sweep to which the American audiences have been accustomed. It does not make heroes of the principals of lawless passion but shows the havoc wrought by illicit love. Mr. Gilmore's new role brings into play every quality of the actor-manager's matured art.

The Coming Maude.

Maude Muller one day, eating fudge. Looked up and saw the county judge. Maude was a pretty girl, all right. His honor fell in love at sight.

And when about a month had fled Maude promised that the judge should wait. Then over the judge's pathway came a wealthy, proud and stately dame.

The judge then for ambition's sake Poor little Maude resolved to shake.

An ardent suffragette was Maude, Chairwoman of the county board.

"I'll get square," Maude said, "without fail."

So told her party her sad tale.

Judge had elected been in fall; In spring they voted his recall.

The haughty dame refused to wed. "You are no longer judge," she said.

This lesson she had learned, you bet: "Don't monkey with a suffragette!"

Would Woman Be Less Quarrelsome? If men indulged in the unparliamentary tactics employed by women in the social and organization game they would not only lose all chance at the coveted office, but they would probably be well beaten up for their actions.

The woman is cruel, disrespectful and unfair to her sisters because she knows another woman will not strike her. It would be so unbecoming! Have you ever listened while the women and girls of a household repeated the tale of their experiences at the Ladies Aid society, the White Club, the Altar guild, the Lunch club?

Do you hear how many apocryphs were made for the next sale, what someone was displayed in playing a certain hand at bridge, how the guild has decided to redecorate the church or the latest discoveries in domestic science made by the young cooks? says the Pictorial Review.

Not at all. The burning question in almost every case is the inefficiency of some officers or the unwarranted power wielded by others. Consider how many good movements have been launched in your town, only to die an untimely death because the organizers fell to quarreling among themselves.

WILSON REVIEWS U. S. CAVALRYMEN

New Evolutions and Tactics Shown by Brigade.

Washington, Oct. 10.—Trotting down from the Virginia hills, overlooking Washington, 2,000 khaki clad cavalrymen entered Washington to pass in review before President Wilson and the military attaches of the foreign embassies and legations. The review was planned to illustrate the great advance made in cavalry tactics. The men, fresh from their camp in Fort Myer, constituted the strongest regular mounted force of the army that has passed before a president since the close of the civil war. Early great crowds thronged the river front, seeking points from which to view the maneuvers.

The center of the maneuvers, which were arranged to follow the march in review, was a stand in Potomac park, especially constructed for the president. Invited to share it with him were Secretary Garrison and other members of the cabinet, Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, the heads of the various bureaus of the war department and the members of the senate and house military affairs committees. The foreign military attaches, mounted and wearing the brilliant uniforms of their rank, lent color to the picture.

THE JUDGESHIP.

The office of judge is the highest elective position which the voters of a county can confer upon a man. An occupant of the bench is presumed to be and should be a man of the strictest integrity, the staunchest honesty and highest intelligence. The judge of a county as large and as important as Clearfield should possess a clear mind, a conscience which cannot be swayed by personal or political considerations, and a heart which will withstand the pleadings for favoritism from friend or foe.

The judge on the bench has the life, liberty and property in his keeping at times. An unjust judge may deprive a man of his liberty or his property. An ignorant or partial judge may even influence a jury to render a verdict against the evidence in a case where a man's life is in peril. A judge on the bench, after all, is but a man, one of the human family, and is liable to err, to be guided by other men with ulterior motives or vicious and harmful purposes in view. To place upon the bench a man who is swayed by passion, politics or personal considerations is as dangerous as to place dynamite in the hands of children.

The people of Clearfield county should have as the occupant of the judicial office a man who is known as upright, conscientious, impartial and free from partisan bias. Such a man is found in Oscar Mitchell, whose candidacy has been hailed by all classes of voters as affording them an opportunity to make the judiciary out of politics in fact, not in theory. Mr. Mitchell as a judge would administer the business of the courts of Clearfield county in a wise, fair-minded and unprejudiced manner. He would be the judge of the whole people, not of a clique or combination which seeks to make a travesty of the laws and to convert the courts into a weapon with which they may punish their enemies and reward their foes.

Oscar Mitchell stands forward as the exponent of honesty, integrity, ability and popular rule. Of the sincerity of his declarations upon the liquor license issue there cannot be the least doubt. He is the logical candidate of the people who have for years believed that there should be a stricter enforcement of the license laws and who deplore the fact that it is too easy a matter for men of doubtful mental and moral qualifications to receive permission to sell liquor in the county of Clearfield. With Oscar Mitchell on the bench the good people of this county would have full assurance that the laws of all kinds would be interpreted and enforced without fear or favor.

BIRDS' FEATHERS BARRED.

There is nothing so bad that in it some good may not be found. The Democratic tariff act is denounced as a near free trade measure and is not going to reduce the high cost of living as the Democrats promised, but still it contains at least one feature which will gain the commendation of the people of this country. That is the provision which prohibits the importation of aligrettes and other bird plume. Women coming from abroad with aligrettes on their hats must remove the ornaments before they will be permitted to land.

The wearing of aligrettes upon the hats of women has long been decried by the friends of the birds which are killed for their feathers alone. It has been found impossible to induce the women to abandon the aligrettes, hence it was necessary for congress to prohibit the use of these feathers by women who arrive in this country from abroad. This law will do injury to no one and may be the means of putting a stop to the slaughter of the birds from which aligrettes are taken.

In one of the school rooms in Clearfield recently a teacher talked to her pupils on the evil of destroying song birds for their plumage. She dilated upon the topic and her little pupils were very much affected. Finally, however, one of the precocious children asked the teacher why, if she was so strongly opposed to the killing of the pretty, innocent birds, she wore a bird's wing on her own hat. The reply was that the ornament had been given to her. What impression will a lecture against cruelty to birds have on children's mind, when the lecturer herself wears plumage from some bird which might be alive today but for the demands of fashion that feathers shall adorn women's hats and bonnets?

The diameter of the earth is said to be eight thousand miles, but to the man who is digging for fish worms it seems that distance down to where the worms hibernates.

Champions of judicial candidates should fight fair. Voters are not so ignorant that they will swallow all kinds of fake stories.

The slit skirt and its attendant exhibition will soon disappear from the stage.

There are those who aver that President Wilson will go the same way that his predecessor went after signing the tariff bill.

Some men's wives are interested in the world's series of baseball according to which team their husbands bet on.

In an editorial in Progress the words "because he is now a bitter partisan" appeared in reference to Oscar Mitchell. The word "now" should have been "not," the blunder being due to the "intelligent" compositor, of course.

"I don't think so," answered Mr. Meekton. "Anyway, she's mighty reluctant about reaching it."—Washington Star.

EPISCOPALIANS DEBATE ISSUES

Both Houses In Session at the Convention.

BIG SERVICE FOR WOMEN.

Bishops and Deputies Meet in Synod Halls—Dr. Alexander Mann of Boston Is Elected Presiding Officer—Women Have Fund of $275,000 to Be Put to Practical Use.

New York, Oct. 10.—Both houses of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church met in business session in the synod halls, in the grounds of the cathedral of St. John the Divine, on Morningside Heights, for the second day's meetings. When the delegates were deliberating more than 3,000 women attended the special service held for the women of the diocese of the church in the cathedral.

The great mass of the cathedral was as crowded as it had been at the opening service of the convention. Bishop David H. Greer of New York celebrated the communion service. The unit offering of the church's auxiliaries, which is handed up at the convention, was put upon the table at this service.

Dr. Alexander Mann, rector of Trinity church, Boston, was elected as presiding officer of the house of deputies. The name of Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, was put in nomination also. The vote was recorded as 258 to 212. On motion of Dr. Manning the choice was made unanimous.

The Rev. Dr. Henry Austin was re-elected secretary of the house of deputies, and the Rev. Carroll M. Davis of St. Louis, William C. Pratt of New York and the Rev. James G. Glass were appointed assistant secretaries.

The Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim of Washington presented to the convention a memorial adopted last May by the diocesan convention of Washington. In it was set forth the belief that the present method of representation by four lay and four clerical delegates from each diocese, regardless of the number of communicants, was unjust and inequitable.

Bishop Boyd Vincent of southern Ohio was chosen chairman of the house of bishops, and Dr. Samuel Hart of Connecticut was re-elected secretary.

The women's auxiliary held a meeting in the parish house of St. Michael's church, One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Amsterdam avenue. It was attended by 427 delegates from the United States. The question of the use of the fund of $275,000 raised by the women was discussed.

All Old. Discovery of a prehistoric Turkish bath in Ireland suggests again the thought that most of the things about which modern civilization boasts are ancient. An automatic machine was in use to supply sacrificial water in an ancient Greek temple. Queen Maria Theresa had an elevator in her house at Luxembourg at least as early as 1777, and an omnibus was running in Paris in 1802. In 1667 Robert Hooke conveyed sounds to a distance by the tending wire—telephone, in fact.

New York, Oct. 10.—The Athletics, after their defeat at the hands of Mathewson, won the third game of the world's series by superior playing in the field, by hard hitting and by the excellent work of Bush, Mack's young pitcher, who allowed the Giants but five hits in the nine innings of play. His work was glib edged throughout, and it was not until the Athletics had a good lead did the Giants score their first run.

Tesreau, who started to work for the Giants, was batted from the box in the seventh inning, Crandall taking his place. Schang, the Athletic catcher, featured with a home run in the right field grand stand, duplicating Baker's feat of the first game.

Early Preparations.

The national commission announced at 10:30 o'clock that the third game of the championship series between the Giants and Athletics would be played if there were no further rain.

The announcement was made upon a report to the commission by Umpire Rigler, who examined the field. Rigler reported that the ground were soggy, but fit for playing if there were no more rain.

Immediately after the announcement the gates swung open and the long line, waiting outside, began to file into the park.

"I can't hold out too bright a hope," was the weather man's dictum. "Conditions are going to be just what they have been for the past three days—cloudy, foggy, unsettled, with light rain. It may be safely said, however, that the rain will not be heavy. It will be showery and the game may slip in between the showers. One thing is certain—it won't clear up."

Uncertainty as to whether the game would be played kept down the number of fans in line during the early morning. There were about half a dozen women in line, hidden under umbrellas, for a fine rain was falling. The line, four abreast, was less than three blocks long.

By 10:30 the crowd numbered more than 4,000, and each train was bringing considerable additions to the line, which stretched five blocks. The drizzle had ceased. The clouds were breaking away, and the sun was trying to force its way through the misty vapor.

About 9:30 David Jones, twenty-nine years old, of 407 Spruce street, Scranton, Pa., who had been in line for several hours, fainted, and when he was brought to Inspector Titus gave him a seat on a box at the head of the fans, so that he could pass the gate without getting in the rush. Jones, who said he was a clerk for a steel company, saw the first and second games. He had left a sick bed so as not to miss the series, he said.

Two men on crutches, who arrived late, were given places well up in front of the line by kind hearted fans.

The Giants were big favorites among the crowd for the game. Odds of 5 to 3 were freely offered, but rosters from Philadelphia were asking 2 to 1.

A shout went up at 10:45 when the gates were thrown open, and there was a repetition of Tuesday's wild rush to reach the ticket windows. Three hundred were let in in the first batch, and then the police held the line in check for half a minute before allowing it to proceed slowly into the inclosure.

Mitchel's Resignation.

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Wilson received the resignation of John Purroy Mitchel, collector of the port of New York. He took under advisement the question of Mr. Mitchel's successor.

BISHOP LAWRENCE.

Clergyman Who Urged
Closer Attention to Life's
Problems by All Ministers.

Bishop Lawrence in a sermon at the services in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine which opened the great Episcopal convention in New York city made an eloquent appeal for closer attention to the problems of today. He thought that the Episcopal clergyman should use every means of getting near to the people, so as to learn their needs and serve them. The Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity church, Boston, was elected president of the house of deputies. The only other candidate was the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning of Trinity church, New York. Dr. Manning is a low churchman.

Surrendered in Messina.

Messina, Sicily, Oct. 10.—Francisco Imbelsi, who attacked and robbed Patrick Campbell at Portage, Pa., in 1904, surrendered himself to the authorities here. He was condemned to thirty years' imprisonment for the crime and for his complicity in the murder of Charles Hays on the same occasion.
